The patriotic citizen of today points with pride to the men and events that helped to give independence to our nation. His heart thrills at the mention of Concord and Yorktown. He feels profoundly grateful to the heroes of the time of the American Revolution, regardless of whether they be soldiers or statesmen, and justly so for we owe to them a debt of gratitude that can never be repaid. But while it is true that we should hold in sacred memory the names of the brave men who helped to transform the thirteen English colonies into thirteen free and independent states, it is equally true that we should not forget these other brave men who continued the work so nobly begun. The heroes of the Revolution made us a nation, but it was the work of men no less heroes to extend the boundaries of that nation until from a narrow strip of...
