O. , Supt. of Docs. , Congressional Sales Office, 2001. OCLC Number: (OCOLOC)47291978 Subject: Food relief -- Developing countries. Excerpt: . . . 11 This international school lunch initiative, what a tremendous thing and how much it can help millions of children worldwide. And the partnership we have here, Dan Glickman, the Secretary, and Ambassador McGovern. I see my friend Cathy Bertini, whom I have admired and worked with all these years, the World Food Program; Senator Dole has such enormous credibility on the Hill with both parties and the American Food Service Association, Mar-shall Mats and all the rest. I think of the strong partnerships with PVOs that can be done, Save the Children, Catholic Relief. I see representatives of Bread for the World here, others who have worked so long on all of this. And I know that the American School Food Service Association ASFSA has been working with nutrition leaders from other coun-tries through its going global program. In fact, Cathy and Mar-shall, I think you had a number of delegates from other countries at the National School Lunch Convention this summer. So these are moral issues. They are not Democrat or Republican issues. They are really moral issues. Hunger is a moral issue, espe-cially for a country like ours that can easily feed a quarter of a bil-lion people and have food left over to export all over the world. It becomes a moral issue. I look at this chart here that shows every corner of the world has undernourished children and families. So it is not just childhood hunger. It is about education,...
